Andrew Atsalis is a Litigation Fellow at Stris & Maher, where he supports the firm's lawyers in a wide range of matters.

Andrew graduated from Colby College in 2023 with a major in History. He also studied Global and Imperial History at the University of Oxford from 2021-2022. Prior to joining Stris, he worked as an analyst for Bates White Economic Consulting and supported efforts of Victim Witness Advocates at his local district attorney's office. He enjoys volunteering his time in support of local museums and libraries.
